THE DAYS OF GLOOM.

THE FEELING IN RUSSIA THAT THE WORST WILL COME.

If the Ordinance is Promulgated---Revolutionary Measures Imminent.

COLOGNE, May 1.—The Cologne Gazette's St. Petersburg letter dated April 22d, says: A universal feeling of gloom prevails. One feels that he must be prepared for the worst.

The Rigorous Police regulations are already in force as respecting the watching of the entrance of houses; visits and searches by night, and so on, are to be rendered still more stringent. After 9 o'clock in the evening no body will be at liberty to show themselves in the street without a certificate, upon which must be written and attested the place from which the bearer comes and to which he is going. If this ordinance which was planned by Generl Gourko, the governor General, is promulgated, then we shall have nothing to do but quietly squat down in our chambers, in the evening, for how are we going to get such certificate and attestation after that hour. Soon it will not be necessary to light a candle before half past nine o'clock, and yet at nine o'clock, just as if in the barracks, every light must be put out. The measures are certainly stringent but at the same time the insecurity at St. Petersburg is daily on the increase. Every day we hear of

GRENADES EXPLODED IN THE STREETS,

Happily, there have not been serious consequences. For the present the intention of the Nihilists is believed to be to keep the police in the State in constant excitement, and at last tire them out or lull them to sleep, with the idea that the danger has been exaggerated. They also reckon on harsh measures, and the arrests are producing discontent among many people who, when the time comes for a grand attack on the Governmen', would join the Revolutionists.

In the night between Friday and Saturday, seditious placards were found stuck up in the vicinity of theatres and at the corners of the business streets, and all through the city, when the police and the detectives at once hurried up and tore down the manifestoes; they nevertheless appeared as new as though conjured forth from the wall by enchantment. Passers by stopped to read the bills, and in this one night the police ARRESTED UPWARDS OF 150 PERSONS.

Among all those taken, the police failed to find, in a single case, as much as a scrap of paper which appeared to have anything to do with the proclamation. The mysterious bill-sticker, on the other hand, went on with his work indefatigably, and the police could not succeed in discovering him. The alarm at last became so great that two companies, under command of Col. DeBerg, marched out and were posted at the entrances to a number of houses, and in the street. When the guard had its attention called to the right, bills were posted up on the left, and after they had been torn down on the left, on the right again appeared the manifestoes of the men of the revolution. Since the attempt on the troops have been held in readiness day and night. In every regiment two companies in marching order, equipped with ball cartridge and all accessories requisite for active operations are kept constantly under arms. Batteries stand ready horsed and mounted in the barrack yards. A squadron of cavalry readiness to mount day and night, divisions of cossacks patrol the streets. On the 18th a peasant was arrested in whose pockets were found dispositions for revolntionary troops. According to this document active operations were to commence on the night between 16th and 17th. Instantly the government made the most extensive preparations for defence. The Grand Duke Nicholas took up his quarters with his entire staff in the offices of the general staff opposite the winter palace. In the riding school of the guards the regiment of Hussars of the guard were quartered while the barracks of the Pavloff and Projenkski regiments were crammed full of troops and the whole artillery of the guards received orders to hold itself in readiness for immediate action. The troops continued several dsys and nights in the places assigned them but the revolution did not break out, probably the whole story of an intended outbreak was an intentional mystification.

WASHINGTON.

Kitchin, of North Carolina, Rose to a Question of Personal Privilege Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Kitchin, of North Carolina, rising to a question of privilege, denounces an allusion to himself which appeared in a speech printed in the Record, as the speech of his colleague, Russell. He characterized the speech as infamously false and slanderous, but said that he was not surprised at his colleague violating every parliamentary rule, and every rule of decency and propriety.

Garfield made the point of order that Kitchin's language was unparliamentary, but the point was overruled by Speaker Randall, who remarked that the gentleman (Kitchin) had previously stated that he meant to say nothing personal. Kitchin reserved further remarks until his colleague should be present.

A Terrible Fire.

ORENBURG, May 1.—The great fire in this city is attributed to carelessness. 949 dwellings were burned, together with one mosque, four mills and 292 shops. Several tar, coal and firewood stores, timber markets and other public buildings were also burned.

Lorillard's Papoose Wins.

NEW YORK, May 1.—A special despatch from New Market dated May 1st, says: "Mr. Lorillard's Papoose has won the first spring two-year old stakes. It was a dash of five furlongs' entrance, ten sovereigns each, with 100 sovereigns added. There were 25 subscribers. The race was well contested by Mr. E. Tattersalls' bay colt, "Horae Rule," Mr. J. T. McKenzie's brown filly, "The Wave and Khabara," the latter doing excellent work. There was great cheering when the American horse won, and Mr. Lorillard's cherry and black colors were once more the first to pass the winning chair. Papoose had the best of the race from the start, running very gamely. Papoose is a sister to Parole.

Congress.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—SENATE.—The Senate resumed the consideration of the bill to prevent the introduction of contagious or infectious diseases into the United States.

HOUSE.—By unnanimous consent, Harris of Virginia, and Chittenden of New York, were allowed to have their votes recorded on the legislative appropriation bill, the former in the affirmative, and the latter in the negative, both having been under the impression that they were paired with other members. The question came up as to the unfinished business of yesterday, on the postponement till next Saturday of the bill reported from the coinage committee, amending the statutes relating to coinage, gold and silver bullion certificates. The pending question was on ordering the main question on the resolution postponing the consideration of the bill relating to coinage and certificates, and it was ordered, yeas 115, nays 107. The resolution was then adopted.

Mr. Sparks of Illinois, has called up the order made yesterday, to reconsider the army appropriation bill, and the House is now voting upon the question whether upon reconsideration the house will pass the bill notwithstanding the objections of the President. No debate has been permitted upon the motion.

The House refused to pass the army appropriation bill over the President's veto, the vote standing, yeas 120, nays 110, not the necessaay two-thirds in the affirmative. It was a strictly party vote, only three of the Greenbackers voted for the bill, and nine voting against it.

Lord Lorne's Dispatch.

LONDON, May 1.—A dispatch from Lord Lorne, Governor General of Canada, is published, in which he justifies the Dominion protective tariff, on the ground that the action of the United States is invariably hostile to Canada on all matters relating to tariffs, and that the manufacturers in the United States can disorganize and destroy any special Canadian markets with similar product sold below actual value. The absence of duty thus has the same effect as that produced by the Government bounty. The Canadian minister of finance appends a memorandum, saying that if the tariff materially alters the volume of trade with Great Britian it must be on the side of an increase, and that in several branches this result will certaily follow.

Death of Mrs. Sarah J. B. Hale.

PHILADELPHIA, May 1.—Mrs. Sarah J. B. Hale, who for half a century was editress of Godey's Lady's Book, died last evening in this city.

Terrible Flood.

VIENNA, May 1.—Owing to the late heavy rains in Hungary, and the flood consequent upon the melting of snows in the mountains, the waters have everywhere risen.

The work of closing the gaps in the dikes at Szegeden not yet being finished, the waters have likewise risen in that town, re-occupying some of the ground which had already become dry.

Another Strike.

NEW YORK, May 1.—The long shore men, according to a resolution adopted at a meeting held last night, went on a strike this morning, when an attempt by the steamship companies to enforce the working rates at 25 cents per hour, day and night alike, was also made.—The lines on which the strike took place were: Anchor, French, Morgan's, Old Dominion, Pacific Mail, State, Guion, Cunard, White Star, and a few others. The places of the strikers are taken by the crews of the vessels, and it is said that the companies will not be much inconvenienced the present week, as the steamships are nearly all laden.

Holiday for the Bink of England.

LONDON, May 1.—To-day is holiday in the Bank of England and on the Stock Exchange, it being the regular semi-annual settling day at the bank.

THE MAIL ROBBERY.

Confession of the Deed from an Unexpected Source.

Wilmington Sun.

Col. E. R. Brink, postmaster at this city, on going to the jail yesterday, to interview the negro George Davis, the story of whose capture and imprisonment, on charge of robbing the mails, was reported in yesterday's Sun, met with a full confession of the robbery, not from George, but from one Jim Davis, who was committed to jail sometime since, upon the charge of stealing shoes from a city merchant. Jim stated that he and his accomplice, by the name of Charlie Williams, were the guilty parties and that George was as innocent of the crime as rain water. Jim Davis put his statement in writing and swore to it, and handed it over to colonel Brink for safe keeping. Jim Davis' confession is to the effect that on the arrival of the train, at Charleston, on or about the 10th of March, he transferred the mail from the Wilmington to the Savanah train. His accomplice, Charles Williams, was lying under the mail car and received a mail bag, dropped by Davis, while the transfer was being made from one car to the other. As soon as the two could find a favorable opportunity, they took the bag about fifty yards up the road, where they ripped it with a knife and emptied its contents upon the ground. Opening the letters, they were rewarded by finding in one letter, fifty dollars in cash. Each of them took twenty-five dollars, and at once buried the bag and rifled letters in a swamp near by. As Jim Davis made this statement altogether unsolicited and unexpected, there is some little doubt about the matter, most of those interested in the case thinking that Jim and George, who are confined in the same cell, have entered into some kind of collusion and that George has persuaded Jim into making the confession, upon the promise of some bribe or recompense. Both parties will be brought before U. S. Commissioner McQuigg, to-day, at 10 o'clock, when the crookedness of the case will be made straight, if possible.

Col. Brink yesterday examined the letters recovered from the Charleston swamp and carefully separating them, found that he would be able, after all, to forward at least two-thirds of the lot to their proper destination. Some of the letters are nothing but masses of pulp, yet all not utterly disfigured, will be forwarded at once in accordance with the direction on them.

THE REIGN OF TERROR IN ST. PETERSBURG AND ELSEWHERE.

Hunting Down the Nihilist in Russia --Whole Families Arrested on Slight Suspicion.

PARIS, April 29. The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Univer, in a letter to that journal, says: "The police are openly arresting people by batches at all hours of the day, whereas apprehensions were hitherto made at night. On the slightest suspicion against any person his whole family are arrested and domiciliary visits are paid to all his acquaintances, these leading to further apprehensions on the most frivolous grounds. Eigty-three furnished lodging keepers are in prison for not reporting within twenty-four hours the latest arrivals. M. Jukovieff, a government official, living in the winter palace, and his son, an officer in the guards, are among the persons in custody. Baron Bistrom, deputy commander of the St. Petersburg garrison, and Gen. Gildenstube, commander of the Moscow garrison, have been superceded for insufficient enthusiasm toward the new order of things. There are few pedestrians or carriages in the streets, but an endless line of porters are seated on stools with stout sticks. Covered prison vans frequently pass with a police officer mounted beside the driver, and Gen. Gourko drives round in an open drosky escorted by Cossacks cracking their whips. The inhabitants are not accomplices of the Nihilist, but are pathetic spectators."

Peter the Great once said: "God established wedlock for happiness, for mutual support, and for consolation in the vicissitudes of life, and, as wretched marriages do not sustain God's purpose in matrimony, it is proper, in such cases, to grant divorce."

PISTOL IN LOUISBURG.

SHOOTING AFFRAY AT FRANKLIN COURT.

The Ball Enters the Neck--A Fatal Wound is Feared---Excitement Runs High.

Special Dispatch to the News.

LOUISBURG, May 1.—Court week is still progressing slowly on. The State vs Swepson has been continued by mutual agreement.

The quiet and peace of Louisburg was disturbed this evening by the report of a pistol. Soon the whole town was astir with excitement. It appears that two young men, Marcellus Dent and Charles Dickerson, got into a quarrel which resulted in angry words, but the shock given the community at the serious termination of the affair was not anticipated.

Dent fired at Dickerson the ball taking effect in his neck and inflicting a most serious, if not fatal wound.

Dent was immediately arrested and put in jail. He is a resident of Pacific. The people are much excited and there is much talk about it. B.

THE FISH HATCHERY.

Progress of the Work---Fish for South Carolina---A Good Season and Great Success.

Mr. William Russ was in the city yesterday, on his way southward. He is now connected with the Fish Hatchery under the Department of Agriculture, the base of operations being at Avoca, on Albemarle Sound. Mr. S. G. Worth, also of the Fish Commission, is at the same place. The hatchery is this year operated by the U. S. Government, and the States of North Carolina and South Carolina. The season has thus far been a remarkably fine one, and hatching operations have progressed rapidly and uninterruptedly. There have been deposited in the Roanoke, Neuse, Trent, Tar and Cape Fear rivers over a million shad fry during April.—Messrs. Geo. H. Williams and John Pugh Haywood, of this city, are now at Avoca, and so Raleigh is well represented. Mr. Russ complains about the lack of mail facilities at Avoca, the steamer which runs from Franklin, Va., having been seized for a debt, and consequently no letters go there at all, nor have they had a mail in ten days.

Mr. Russ had with him yesterday 350,000 shad fry, which he will place in the Tugalo and other rivers on the Charlotte & Atlanta Air Line Railway, in South Carolina. These fish are entirely in his charge, and come from Avoca. They are the first placed in streams in South Carolina, that State having just come into the arrangement for hatching. Colonel A. B. P. Butler, brother of Senator Butler, is the Fish Commissioner of our sister State, having just been appointed to the position. This is the initiatory movement to supply the waters of South Carolina with fish, but it is intended to continue the work. Col. Butler is sanguine in regard to the work of stocking the streams, and will spare no effort to secure a large appropriation for next year's hatching.

HAZEN AT SHILOH.

Telling How it was that he Became Separated from his Command.

NEW YORK, April 29.—At the Stanley court-martial to-day, General Hazen was put upon the witness-stand. He testified that he was colonel of the Sixth Infantry, commander of a brigade in General Nelson's division. He was asked by the Judge Advocate to describe how he became separated from his command at the battle of Shiloh. It was the first battle, witness said, he was engaged in. His horse was unmanageable, lame and jaded. He was with the brigade when repulsed. He turned to the left and found himself in a dense wood. He became bewildered. The brigade made a half face to the right. He saw General King and inquired for his brigade. He then took one of the roads. There was a multitude of roads; thinks it was on the Hamburg road. He went to Pittsburg Landing. The condition of his norse made the journey slow, and he could not force him. He met Dr. Murray a considerable distance from the landing. At the landing he saw some of the servants of the brigade, and they prepared dinner for him.—While awaiting it the witness saw Capt. Gillam. He joined his brigade between 4 and 5 o'clock; reported to General Buell, who said that his separation from his command was one of the accidents which may occur. He pointed out on a map the route he took. The brigade was entirely scattered. The witness said when the brigade was engaged about forty minutes the line was destroyed as to its efficiency. He did not withdraw, but superintended the movements. General Wood had moved to the front. He could not approach Gen. Wood in any other way than from the rear.

WILSON COUNTY.

A Defendant Lopes the Land---The Inferior Court to be Abolished.

Correspondence of the News.

WILSON, April 30.

Court met at 10 o'clock Monday, the 28th inst. The grand jury was sworn, empaneled and charged in the usual able, clear and concise style of the presiding justice, the Hon. James W. Lancaster, the oldest member of the bar in our section.

The business of the court as is known is confined to the criminal side of the docket, and ours being an unusually quiet county—peaceable and law-abiding—is very small; there were only 10 cases on docket up to this writing, and only one of them tried; that was a case of larceny, prosecuted and defended in a spirited manner by the Solicitor on the part of the State, and by Messrs. Conner and Woodard for the defense. The jury being unable to agree, after a retirement of several hours, the defendant and State agreed to a majority verdict, which convicted the defendant; whereupon, on Tuesday morning, his counsel moved for a new trial, which was refused, and, pending the consideration of the sentence, it was found he had "loped" the land.

There being nothing further for the present action of the court, it adjourned to meet at 2 o'clock, at which hour, in accordance with notices regularly posted for three months, the justices of the county were to meet and determine whether or not to discontinue the court. A majority of the justices were in town, and within hearing of the crier, and a large number were assembled, and a meeting organized, when a committee was appointed to wait upon the clerk and justices of the court. The court did not assemble, nor would the clerk appear. The Clerk of the Superior Court-room was called on for a statement of his views on the question for which they had assembled, who did so, and to the effect that the business of the county did not justify the continuance of the Inferior Court.

The Justices of the Court failing to make their appearance, and a majority of the Justices of the Court not being present, the meeting adjourned till Tuesday of the next term, when the movement will be made again to dispense with the court. This is the only instance, except one, in the legal history of this State where the Justices of the Court were literally run from the bench. They did not meet any more on Tuesday, but at about the hour of 5 p. m. the crier, in a stentorian voice, proclaimed the honorable court adjourned until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

LOOKER ON.

Commercial News.

Mr. Ewing, of Ohio, has introduced a bill in Congress to tax incomes over $4,000, 2½ per cent.; over $10,000, five per cent., and over $20,000, ten per cent.

Seven bills have been introduced in Congress to remove the tax from applejack, peach brandy and all other spirits distilled from fruit.

Five of the Hartford, Conn., life insurance companies propose to withdraw their loans from Indiana in consequence of the recent law passed there forbidding foreign companies to transfer suits to the Federal courts.

The number of negroes who have received 160 acres of land, mules, seed and implements, with cigars and carriages thrown in, in Kansas, as promised by their Republican friends, has not yet been made out. The fact is, the list will never be made out. The negro will have to be patient with his sublimely philanthopic friends.

People about to marry should not be guilty of deception. In Germany recently a young woman advertised for a husband, and professed to be worth $1,500 in cash. She found a husband, who in turn found she had only $150 in cash. He applied for a divorce "because of the deceit which had been practiced upon him." The court declared the marriage null and void.

The Secretary of the Treasury showed the other day that he had assets in the Treasury amounting to $524,779,501,03, about $70,000,000 of which he is required by law to pay out as necessary. The Secretary, be it noted, although having an abundance of cash, refuses to pay the soldiers their arrearages of pensions, and is forcing them to await his pleasure.

The Treasury department has deemed it necessary to explain that the apparent discrepancy between London and New York quotations of bonds is due to the fact that in the former centre the £ is reckoned at 85, an over-valuation of 11⅛ when Exchange is $4.88½. If four per cents are quoted at 103½ in London this is reduced to the New York parity by multiplying the quotation by 4.88½ and dividing by five.

The London Times applauds the remarkable achievements of Secretary Sherman in refunding the public debt, and tenders some advice to the effect that he should now direct his attention to a policy of reducing the principal of the debt, which the Times says has been for some time neglected. The American public debt has been reduced near $600,000,000 in twelve years. How much has England reduced hers in the same period?

The State of Pennsylvania is just now much excited over the question as to who shall pay the $4,000,000 of damage occasioned by the riot of 1877. Pittsburg doesn't want to pay it and regards it as a State debt. Her citizens cannot deny that some of them did the burning. And it is a matter of history that the mob had the sympathy of the city and its officers. It begins to appear that as Pittsburg danced she must pay the fiddler. The lesson taught will be a wholesome one.

The St. Louis Journal of Commerce says: "The Beaver Sugar Company expended $120,000 to $150,000 last year, experimenting with new methods for refining sugar. The works of this company are among the most complete in the world, as well as being one of the largest. They are running their works on full time and with a large force of men. The works occupy over two solid blocks, covered with four and five story buildings. They employ 250 men."

The Best in His Line.

Mr. James Hudson, Stockwell, Indiana, is we learn the "champion suicidist" of the Hoosier State. The correspondent relates how Mr. Hudson at divers times has endeavored to shuffle off his burdensome coil by the aid of the shotgun, the pistol, the carving knife, the vial of poison, and, lastly, by jumping headforemost into a barrel of rain water. The neighbors, we understand, begin to suspect that Hudson is insane. We doubt if the suspicion is warranted by the facts. Mr. Hudson, as we are led to believe, has started out with a high-resolve to become "the champion suicidist of Indiana, and he naturally wants to achieve that distinction. We see that the gentleman is enterprising and full of resource, and he no doubt lives in the blessed hope that he accomplish the end aimed at—which is sometimes his head—or die in the attempt. It is an honorable ambition, this of Mr. Hudson's, and we trust we may be the last person to lay so much as a straw in his way. We have our champion pedestrians, champion oarsmen, champion this, that and the other thing, and why not a champion suicidist?" Go on, Mr. Hudson, and achieve the distinction your heart yearns for, shoot yourself, carve yourself, poison yourself, fire youself head first into a barrel of rain water, or open a can of nitro-glycerine with a hammer and cold chisel. The belt is already ordered; for fear of accident, your address in the next world.—Cin. En.

The Force of Habit.

The force of habit is very strong in most, cases, as an illustration we will mention that a conductor on the Housatonic road has fallen into the habit of winding his watch at a place near North Bridgeport, and so firmly has the habit become fixed that no matter what he may be doing when his train approaches that point, he will without thinking, take out his watch and wind it. He may be absorbed in a conversation at the time, but the opperation is performed half mechanically just the same. He says he varies scarcely ten rods from evening to evening. The same curious devotion to custom is noticed sometimes among locomotive engineers. One of the old engineers on the same road will sound his whistle at the necessary points apparently without thinking of the duty. In the midst of a conversation his hand will reach mechanically for the whistle rod and it will be found that he scarcely ever varies from the same place.

The pleasnre of a stranger in visiting a great city is largely dependent on the hotel where he stops. No house of entertainment can be so unhesitatingly recommended as the "St. Nicholas." In the very centre of life and business, superbly kept according to the modern idea of a palatial hotel, every attention is exhausted to subserve the enjoyment of the fastidious guest. A magnificent cuisine, elegantly furnished rooms, and the most luxurious general accommodations, unite in making an almost irresistible appeal to the visitor. The rates have been reduced in accordance with the general tendency of the times

THE ALSTON FAMILY.

SKETCHES OF THEIR HISTORY BY OSCAR F. ALSTON OF RALEIGH.

The Warren and Halifax Branches---Gentlemen all; But Quick on Trigger---Splendid Livers, Gallant and Daring.

A reporter of the NEWS yesterday called upon Oscar F. Alston, one of the best known colored men in this section, to ascertain some particulars in regard to the famous Alstons to whom he is by blood related. Oscar was found in his comfortable home at the corner of Martin and Harrington streets. He is a venerable man, but though the frosts of nearly 80 winters have silvered his head, yet his eye is bright and his memory clear. It is never any trouble to induce an

ALSTON TO SPEAK OF THE FAMILY

and Oscar gave all the facts in his possession. In response to inquiries as to himself, he stated that he was born in 1800, and lived in Warren county until 1848, when he moved here. Being possessed of considerable means he bought a good deal of property here, both in the city and county. He owned quite a number of slaves up to the close of the war. He had always been a free man himself. He made several visits out to Georgia to visit the family in that State, and Col. Bob Alston, the elder came to see him here several times. Oscar is of the Warren Alstons, and not of the Halifax portion of

THE NOW FAMOUS FAMILY.

To the reporters inquiry as to the origin of the family Oscar said that the first he knew of their history was that about the time of the Revolution four brothers, Samuel, Thomas, William and Phillip, settled in Warren county. These were all farmers, men of large means, fond, as all the family have ever been, of fine horses and good living, but yet very peacable and quiet in disposition. Samuel Alston had two sons, one called "Tom Thumper" and the other Falcon; who were quiet in disposition, though high livers and passionately fond of

HORSEFLESH AND FIGHTING COCKS.

William Alston had four boys, Philip, Samuel, Thomas, Whitmel and Medicus, but these, like their parent, evinced no deadly dangerous disposition, but did as their father and filled their broad fields in perfect peace.

Oscar said he spoke thus fully of the Warren branch of the family that it might be seen how quiet they all were, and then went on to speak of The Halifax Alstons, from whom came the fighting stock, who

"DIED WITH THEIR BOOTS ON."

The ancestors of this branch of the Alstons was a cousin of Tom, Sam and William, the ones who were the progenitors of the Warren. He was Col. Willis Alston, and, it seems, was born in Halifax just prior to the Revolution. He was a gentleman in every sense of the word, and was a man of much note, both in political and social life. He was in Congress from 1803 to 1812, and also represented his county in the Legislature for many years. Oscar says he remembers him well in the Legislature during the years 1817, '18, '19 and '20, and said that he was a quiet quiet, and evinced none of the dangerous qualities which made his family later on so notable and feared.

THE FIGHTING ALSTONS.

A brother of this Col. Willis Alston was Col. Bob Alston, who left this State and removed to Sparta, Georgia, in the early part of the century. He married a Miss Green of Warren, and once each year visited his Carolina relatives. He traveled in magnificent style, drove four in hand, and was a man of immense wealth and cultured taste, though fond of all the athletic sports, horse racing, and gaming. After a residence of many years in Georgia he moved to Florida and died there some time prior to the war. Like his brother Willis, Bob evinced no taste for bloodshed, and so far as known was not a principal in any encounters.

The eldest son of this Colonel Bob was named after his Uncle Willis, and right here devolved that which brooked not the suggestion of an insult. Willis had been in several duels but had killed no one, but while living in Florida he attacked a prominent man by the name of Read, who had killed his brother and shot him dead in his tracks. Willis then fled the State, the authorities keeping up a long search for him, and came to North Carolina, but afterwards went down South again and was killed in some sudden and obscure quarrel.

Col. Bob's next son was named Gus, and he was though a rare gentleman in manner and attainments. At a very early age he developed the fighting quality, and Oscar says was always challenging people. It appears, however, that he killed no one nor was wounded himself until the end of his career. While down in Florida Gus became involved in a quarrel with the Read above mentioned, and challenged him. There was no secrecy about the encounter, for Gus told his mother of it, and traditions of the family say that she invited a party of her guests out into the grove to see Gus kill his opponent. The party went out to see the duel, which did not terminate as proposed by Mrs. Alston, for Gus instead of being the killer, was killed,

SHOT DEAD AT THE FIRST FIRE.

The latter, as related, soon fell by the avenging bullet of Gus' brother Willis.

There were two more brothers of Willis and Gus, one of whom was named Gid, and the other Tom. These were quiet and peaceably disposed, and were never in any duel.

Willis Alston, the slayer of Read, had several sons, one or whom was Col. Robert, who is the man concerned in

THE TRAGEDY OF ATLANTA.

He went to Georgia after his father's death. Like his father and uncle he would brook no insult, and bore well the family reputation for personal daring. Like all the rest too, he lived high, drank and gambled, but was withal the soul of generosity and a gentleman every inch of him. He was, as his father and uncle, admired and feared, for while gentle to the courteous and to woman, he brooked no insult, but wiped it out in blood.

ATLANTA, April 30.—The trial of Edwin S. Cox was continued to-day.

THE APPEARANCE OF COX.

His appearance is very much altered from what it was at the time of the homicide. Then his face was well sunburned and his black, wavy hair was long and Texan like. He was fleshy and even appeared of less stature than he is. He usually wore a very genial, pleasant smile upon his face, and his carriage was self-reliant and active. As he entered the court-room yesterday his ordinary acquaintances would hardly have recognized him. His illness and confinement in jail have bleached his complexion; his hair was close trimmed and his face wore an expression of pain and his forehead now and then had anxious contractions about the brow. He has lost considerable flesh and looks taller, and his bearing is that of a man hampered by the consciousness that he is surrounded by dire and unenviable circumstances. Once in a while some beguiling remark from one of his counsel would cause a smile or silent laugh to come to him, but almost immediately his face would resume an even deeper gravity, as though he inwardly reproached himself for the apparent levity. He seemed pleased when he noted that his wife and sister had entered the court-room and taken seats near him.

He was a target for the curious eyes of the great assembly, and every item that went to make up his appearance was carefully noted by those inquiring He seldom faced the crowd and the consciousness that he was the cynosure of the occasion seemed to annoy him quite as much as anything else during the day. He gave close attention to his counsel.

Solicitor-General Hill then called the names of the witnesses for the State, after which he announced ready for the prosecution.

Colonel Chandler called the names of twenty-seven witnesses summoned on behalf of the defendant. The greater part of these answered as present. Among those called for the defense were Senator Gordon, Governor Colquitt, Colonel B. G. Lockett, Captain J. W. Nelms, Colonel C. B. How-

Much argument was entered into, and a number of affidavits were read to show cause why this trial should be continued, but the Judge decided that it was not sufficient, and the court proceeded to trial.

GOING TO TRIAL.

This decision caused a general and excited buzz throughout the audience. It was now apparent that the trial would go on.

The clerk was ordered to make up his panels.

Cox was formally arraigned and the bill of indictment read over to him. In response to the question, "Guilty or not guilty?" he answered somewhat huskily, "Not guilty."

When the panels were put upon the prisoner, his counsel made challenge to the array, on the ground of non-compliance with the new jury law in the composition of the commission that made the last revision in January last. After short argument by General Gartrell, the state's counsel demurred to the challenge and the demurrer was sustained.

GETTING THE JURY.

Immediately after the dinner recess the long and tedious process of getting a jury was commenced. The fourth juror proposed was the first one to be accepted, his name being J. R. Baker, a farmer. The ninth man, S. P. Yancey, a farmer, was second; the fifteenth man, D. L. Plaster, farmer, was chosen third; the one hundredth man, Joel Hurt, real estate agent, was taken fourth; the one hundred and twenty-first man, J. H. Robinson, was the fifth selection, and the one hundred and twenty-ninth man, S. C. Hitchcock, soap manufacturer, was sixth and last for the day. One hundred and forty-four men were examined. The new panels will be on this morning. There are six more jurors to be chosen. The state has exhausted six of its ten challenges; the defense nine of its twenty. Four persons only disqualified on account of being opposed to capital punishment. The bulk of the jurors disqualified upon the ground that they had minds for or against the accused.

It is probable that the jury will be completed by noon to-day, when the testimony will be entered upon.

Senator Gordon arrived in the city last night from Washington city, and will be present this morning.

Court adjourned to 8:30 o'clock this morning, when all parties should be promptly in attendance who have been summoned to appear.

BURNED TO DEATH.

A Father Obliged to Abandon Two of His Children to the Flames.

PITTSTON, April 30.—Last night the building known as the Rising Sun Hotel, at Dackawanna, about three miles north of this place, was set on fire by some unknown persons, and when John Keogh and his five children were awakened they were surrounded by the flames. The two oldest children by some means got out of the building unhurt. Two others met a horible death. Keogh rushed to the front of the building with a child of 5 years in his arms, but was driven back by the flames. In the rear of the house he found two of his children, unable to help themselves. He was blinded by smoke and severely burned about the head and was obliged to abandoned them to their fate. The cries of the little ones after they were deserted were heartrending. It was impossible for any one to re-enter the building and the two children, one a boy of eleven and the other a girl of thirteen, perished in the flames, with the cry of "Father, don't leave us behind," on their lips. The little child rescued is badly burned and it is thought cannot survive.

ALSTON COX TRIAL.

BOB ALSTON'S SLAYER ON TRIAL FOR HIS LIFE.

The Trial of Edward Cox in Atlanta--An Exciting Time---His Personal Appearance Changed.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 29.—The case of Captain Ed. Cox, who killed Colonel Alston on the 11th of March, was called in court to-day. Counsel for Cox made strenuous endeavors to continue the case to the next term, on account of the absence of Senator Gordon and the public excitement. The court refused the motion on both grounds. Senator Gordon will arrive here to-night. The court room was crowded, over five hundred spectators being present. Cox is defended by an array of thirteen counsel. The State is represented by eight. Judge Hillyer ordered the trial to proceed. Many jurors were challenged by the defence on the ground that they were not drawn in conformity with the new law. The challenge was overruled. The day was consumed in getting six jurors out of one hundred and forty-four ordered. The jury will probably be completed to-morrow. Cox looked pale and anxious with an occasional evidence of cheerfulness. No public excitement is manifested. The trial will be long and desperately contested.

A Good Platform.

Washington Post.

Summing up, the following is the Post's Democratic platform. If anybody can better it, he shall have space to present it. If any body is opposed to, let us hear from him:

Impartial juries.
Abolition of test oaths.
Free elections.
An honest count of the votes cast.
Economical administration.
Equal taxation.
Peace between sections, and prosperity.

Two National Trials.

Washington Post April 30.

Two important criminal trials commence to-day, that of Buford, at Frankfort, Ky., for killing Judge Elliot, and that of Edward Cox, at Atlanta, Ga., for killing Colonel Robert Alston. Both of these cases have attracted unusual attention, and the progress of the trial will be watched with lively interest by the entire country. Eminent attorneys have been retained on both sides of each case.

BREVITIES.

The faculty of Hamilton college has decided to punish the present sophomore class of that institution for the publication of burlesque schemes as the recent junior exhibition, in a novel and rather effective manner. It has abolished the junior exhibition itself, in respect to this class; and that sort of punishment will be felt more keenly, probably, than a suspension from college. The time-honored exhibition will be resumed after next year.

A popular pastor of an Indianapolis church recently attended one of Modjeska's performances, and certain meddlesome members of his flock were somewhat shocked. Their remarks and criticisms have come to his ears, he stated in prayer meeting, last Thursday night, that he had attended the performance, and it was nobody's business but his own—or words to that effect.

A lady in Portland has a canary bird that will faint away and fall over as gracefully as any lady. The bird is a very fine singer, but (like some of the fair sex) when the least bit frightened will stop singing and fall from its perch in a faint of the most approved sort. It remains in an apparently unconscious condition for some ten or fifteen minutes, then rouses up and commences to warble as though nothing had occurred.

Cornell University has 403 students of both sexes attending the university, and only about 350 young men, against about 700 when the experiment began.

Miss Julia Hole-in-the-Day, daughter of the distinguished Indian chief, was recently married at White Earth Agency to John Fairbanks, a white man.

Arrangements for the ensuing season at Niagara are on a scale of elaboration somewhat, if not entirely, unusual.

An Impromptu Answer.

The reporter while sauntering along Wilmington Street yesterday afternoon, in the hope of findidg a first-class item, noticed a burly looking man, about two "sheets in the wind" as Jack Tar puts it, step up to a stranger with this remark:

"Do you believe a woman has any right to preach?"

"I think she has," quietly replied the other with a sly twinkle; "woman got us all into trouble by the apple business, and she ought, by all manner of means, turn her attention to getting us out."

Bock! Bock!! Bock!!!

"The only genuine Bock Beer is from the Lion Brewery, of Cincinnati," (so says Mr. M. Bill, of course this is the only brewery in the world). If the people will try, they will find that A. W. Evans, agent for Bay View Brewery, has at least, as good, not only Bock, but also the very best Lager Beer, which he sells at wholesale and retail. This Beer will also be found at Jacob Higgs', V. D. Lawrence's, Adam Haag's and at J. S. Taylors, and at most of the bars of middle North Carolina.

HUSSEY & JORDAN, PROPRIETORS

JOHN B. HUSSEY. - - Editor

JOURNALISTIC MORTALITY.

The old bean who struggled through a basketful of failures to one perfect tie of his cravat, was a fitting prototype of the successful journalist. Perhaps in no business or profession have there been so many pretty wrecks—so many fair-promising ventures which have resulted in disaster. "How not to do it," has been so often played upon the journalistic stage, that it is by no means a difficult matter to point out men who are able to count a dead newspaper for every year or two of their manhood,—yet they may be good writers, strong thinkers and men of fair business capacity. On the other hand, men of only moderate capacity have founded and conducted to a prosperity which seems amazing, journals which seemed to have no more show for a prolonged existence than Hayes has for a re-nomination. Greeley built the Tribune on several antecedent failures, and would no doubt have achieved another had it not been for the magnificent administrative power of his associate, McElrath. Sam Bowles founded the Springfield Republican in the very teeth of the Boston and New York dailies, at what was then only a sort of inland village, and not only achieved a magnificent fortune thereby, but left it a power in the land. So, in almost every considerable city, the successful newspaper has been established, but for every success achieved a hundred graves have been dug.

Outside of the great dailies of the metropolitan cities of the world, journalistic success seems to depend but little on location. We frequently hear of a "good opening" for a newspaper, but in truth our mail facilities have so nearly annihilated time and space, that the chances of success are almost as good, at the court house of a county, as at the capital of a State. There are sections of the country, however, where failure in journalism seems to be as much an epidemic as cholera or yellow fever. There are cities and States in which a man who engages in publishing a newspaper seems as certain of coming to grief as a denizen of Leadville is to have sawdust on his back or a Robesonian to have the ague. Such a region is North Carolina and within the State, the point of especially noted fatality is Raleigh. No man has ever grown rich in the pursuit here. Perhaps but one or possibly two, ever secured a respectable competency thereby, while those who have sold out, starved out, frozen out, pegged out or cut out, may be numbered by the score. If dead newspapers were allowed the honor of decent burial Raleigh would be a journalistic mausoleum. The boys would stumble over the tombstones as they went to school and the unnumbered "dear departed" would momently beckon the new adventurers in the journalistic line to "Gather round and view the ground

"Wherein ye soon shan lie."

It is, perhaps, fortunate that the defunct newspaper is like the great forerunner of the carpet-bagger, in that for the monuments which would otherwise line the journalist's way would be like milestones showing the road to disaster. What is true of this city, is, in less degree, true of the State. One may count on the fingers of one hand those who have made even a comfortable living at the business.

"A speck, he left behind"

Why is this universal failure? It is not because our people do not read, for it that were a fault, it would be no sufficient reason. One of the elements of successful journalism is to create readers, to make those read who never read before.

One reason unndoubtedly is, that the conductor of a newspaper, especially a daily, needs to be a man of unusual nerve in order to keep constantly in mind, the Dutchman's advice, not to get "too bigger as his breeches." Our journals usually have both the defects which are incident to kites, too much head and too much tail. A brace or two of editors, three or four reporters and a string of foremans, book-keepers, clerks and typos, with a duplicate array of "Union-subs" hung to their coat tails may be very imposing when at work but are sure to be much more so when pay day comes.

Another reason is, that the raison d'etre of our newspapers has usually been inconsistent with thorough business management. Some aspiring politician desiring to lift himself into prominence, has usually furnished the money to start a paper for some pen-willing Daigetty, whose first great duty was to write up his patron. Or a railroad desiring a charter or a bit of the State's aid or credit, hires a swashbuckling ink-slinger and starts a newspaper, which is redolent of patriotic and econic marvels, and like Col. Sellers, "goes for the old flag——and an appropriation." The interest of the politician or corporation, the main thing; that of the newspaper the incident.

In other words, our journals have not been managed on business principles. There has been too much cry about the mission of the press, and too little thought of the business of the press. A newspaper which is simply barnacled to a man, an interest, an idea or a clique is a sham, a counterfeit, which deserves whatever of untoward fate may befall it. Journalism is a business, and not only a business, but one of the most difficult and intricate of businesses. No one can succeed in it who will not apply to its conduct the strictest system, the most untiring care and the most rigid and unceasing economy in every department. The manager's eye must be on his subscription list as the engineer's hand is on his throttle valve, or the physician's finger on his patient's pulse. It is the thermometer of his prosperity. It may vary—it must vary—with times, seasons and business, but he must have skill enough to know the difference between a permanent and a temporary depression. He must not only know what his readers require; he must not only study their appetites, but also their needs and create the appetite which his columns satisfy. Whenever he puts a man, a party or a hobby above his business, he is driving a nail in his own coffin. If he seeks party support, his journal must be so strong that he can command it instead of begging for it. It must know when to oppose as well as when to favor; when to scourge as well as when to applaud. Such a journal will succeed in any community where the ground is not already occupied by others of like characters. Editorial brain is abundant and cheap; the mechanical business of a newspaper office is not intricate; the collection and compilation of news items is not a herculean task; the arrangement of matter is a less difficult affair than the selection of a lady's wardrobe, and requires the same sort of taste; the ascertainment of the readers' preferences and advertisers' wants is a matter of ordinary business tact; but all these are necessary to the conduct of a successful journal, and it is the power of collecting, harmonizing and systematizing these which is essential to the successful conduct of the business of a newspaper, and the lack of which assures failure.

THE VETOED BILL.

As predicted by the NEWS the President has vetoed the army bill. What is that bill? Section 2002 of the Revised Statutes reads as follows:

"No military or naval officer, or other person engaged in the civil, military or naval service of the United States, shall order, bring, keep or have under his authority or control, any troops or armed men at the place where any general or special election is held in any State, unless it be necessary to repel the armed enemies of the United States or to keep the peace at the polls."

Congress simply struck out the last eight words of this statute—"or to keep the peace at the polls." The Republicans insisted that these words should be retained; the Democrats insist that they should be wiped out. The Republican position is that military or naval officers, or other persons engaged in the civil, military or naval service of the United States, may order, bring, keep and have under their authority and control, any troops or armed men at the place where any general or special election is held in any State, to keep the peace at the polls. This is the doctrine of the veto, however disguised. The doctrine of Congress is, that troops or armed men shall not be sent to the polls by Federal authority to take charge of elections—that the army shall stay away from the ballot-boxes. The country must judge between these positions.

Ought the veto to be invoked in such a cause?—not to build up, but to strike down, civil liberty; not to secure, but to destroy, free suffrage; not to protect, but to violate, the Constitution; not to reverence, but to spurn, the Declaration of Independence? Congress makes the appropriation for the support of the army; the President vetoes the supplies, deprives the army of support, if he can not use it for political purposes? Hayes is the first President in our history to veto the repeal of a law, the first President to veto a regular Appropriation Bill. The bill does not take away one jot or tittle of the Constitutional power of the President to use the army. On the contrary, it declares that all constitutional power of the Executive over the army shall be retained by him, as contained in this section, as now amended, shall be held or deemed to abridge or affect the duty or power of the President of the United States, under section 5297 of the Revised Statutes, enacted under and to enable the United States to comply with Section 4 of Article 4 of the Constitution of the United States, on application of the Legislature or Executive, as provided for in said section."

The power to appropriate money includes the power to direct the manner in which, and the purposes for which, under the Constitution, the money shall be expended. Congress has not transgressed the limits of its authority; but the President, in vetoing one of the great Appropriation Bills because it does him or those under him in time of profound peace to order the army to the polls—an unheard of and monstrous thing, till recently—would be little less than an usurper.

"He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good."

"He has kept among us in time of peace standing armies without the consent of our Legislature."

"He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power."

Now what? We have an abiding faith in the wisdom and statesmanship of the Democratic party.

The Democratic party has its howlers and screechers, but it is not to these we look.

THEN AND NOW.

In the Chicago Convention of 1860 the Republican party, after an impassioned appeal from George William Curtis and others it injected a portion of the Declaration of Independence into its platform. It proclaimed itself the party of liberty—in somewhat guarded terms. It was not then forgotten that the Declaration of Independence contained such charges as the following against the encroachments of Kingly power:

"He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

"He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our Legislature.

"He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior, to the Civil power."

And for quartering large bodies of armed troops among us" King George III was also indicted in the Declaration. The Republicans in 1860 made their appeal to the country in the name of Liberty. The Whig party had broken to pieces. And accordingly, the National Republican Convention in 1860, when the Greeleys and the Sewards and the Corwins and the Curtises and the Evartses (Evarts nominated Seward in the Convention) and the Andrews and the Wilsons and the Schurzes and the Sumners and the Lanes and the Wades and the Stevenses and the great list of great men that composed the Republican party when Lincoln was nominated, adopted the following resolution:

"That the maintenance inviolate of the rights of the States, and especially the right of each State to order and control its own domestic institutions according to its own judgment exclusively, is essential to that balance of powers on which the perfection and endurance of our political fabric depends; and we denounce the lawless invasion by any State or Territory, no matter under what pretext, as among the gravest of crimes."

This was the doctrine of the Republican party in 1860.

The people of the country had not then been educated in trampling the rights of States beneath their feet, and it was necessary to frame a platform not positively hostile to public sentiment. The Republican party rode into power upon this doctrine. A resolution expressing the doctrine of the Republican party to-day upon this subject would read about as follows: "That the maintenance inviolate of the rights of the Executive to usurp the rights of the States, and especially the right of the Executive Department to order and control the army at the polls in its own judgment exclusively, and to cause Deputy Marshals without limit to be appointed to electioneer for the Republican party, to be paid out of the Federal Treasury, and to see to it that juries in United States Courts in one-half the country are packed in the interests of Republicans, is essential to that perpetuation of Republican power on which the perfection and endurance of our political fabric depends; and we denounce the lawless invasion by Legislative force of the soil, of the army, and of the Deputy Marshals, and of the Executive in these respects, no matter under what pretext, as revolutionary and among the gravest of crimes."

THE TEN-DOLLAR CERTIFICATES.

The popularity of the ten-dollar certificates is unbounded. Everybody wants them. From present appearances the ten-dollar certificates necessary to redeem the outstanding "ten-forties" will all be sold long before the time limited by Secretary Sherman.

The popularity of these certificates shows that people are more willing to trust the Government than they are to trust private bankers. There are always numbers of persons with small sums of money which they would willingly place in the safe keeping of the Government, but which they will not entrust to private parties. They keep these sums in their pockets or in their trunks. They are afraid to run the risk of saving banks. This is the great argument in favor of a postal savings bank. In some respects the ten-dollar certificates supply the place of a governmental savings bank.

The rush of ten-dollar certificates shows clearly that, if the Government had put its bond on the market through its own agents, they would have been absorbed, perhaps as quickly as through "syndicates." A person who will buy ten ten-dollar certificates bearing four per cent. interest would, it seems clear, purchase a one-hundred-dollar four per cent. bond just as readily if it were offered to him in the same way as the certificate. This is a Government of the people, and yet the Government has never before directly offered its securities to the people. They have always farmed them out to bankers, by whom they were sold to the people. It might not be amiss next time to let the people have an opportunity of purchasing [illegible] need be for a limited period, and after that time has expired permit the bankers to handle what remains.

THE counties and municipalities of Missouri owe $30,000,000 in bonds bearing the extraordinary interest of 10 per cent. It has been evident for some time that these counties are unable longer to bear this heavy burden placed upon them in the days of inflation, when money was cheap and easily obtainable. For some time past efforts have been made by the counties to compromise this debt by reducing the principal to 66 2-3 cents on the dollar and the interest to 5 per cent. A bill to that effect has lately passed the Missouri Legislature, and several counties, Lafayette and Calloway among them, have arranged a compromise. In all the other instances, the counties agree to the proposed compromise, but the boudholders refuse to accept the terms offered them, and are calling on the United States courts to interfere. The matter promises to be an interesting one, as the United States courts and the Missouri Legislature find themselves opposed to each other and in direct conflict. It remains to be seen which will yield.

The Boom of Davis.

St. Paul Globe.

Judge Davis's great speech in the Senate against radical tyrany makes him loom up against the horizon as a possible presidential candidate. It is claimed that he can carry Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and probably Wisconsin in the west, and New York, Connecticut and New Jersey in the east. Add that up with the "solid south" and the thing is settled.

LIVER

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person about three gallons) passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseased, and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. MERRELL'S HEPATINE, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity, causes the Liver to throw off from one to two ounces of bile each time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. The cure of all bilious diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking HEPATINE in accordance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.

LUNGS

The fatality of Consumption or Throat and Lung Diseases, which sweep to the grave at least one-third of all death's victims, arises from the Opium or Morphine treatment, which simply stupefies: as the work of death goes on $10,000 will be paid if Opium or Morphine, or any preparation of Opium, Morphine or Prussic Acid, can be found in the GLOBE FLOWER COUGH SYRUP, which has cured people who are living to-day with but one remaining lung. No greater wrong can be done than to say that Consumption is incurable. GLOBE FLOWER COUGH SYRUP will cure it when all other means have failed. Also, Colds, Cough, Asthma, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and lungs. Read the testimonials of the Hon. Alexander H. Stephens, Gov. Smith and Ex-Gov. Brown of Ga., Hon. Geo. Peabody, as well as those of other remarkable cures in our book, free to all at the drug stores, and be convinced that if you wish to be cured you can be by taking the GLOBE FLOWER COUGH SYRUP. Take no Troches or Lozenges for Sore Throat, when you can get GLOBE FLOWER SYRUP at same price. For sale by all Druggists.

Price 25 Cts. and $1.00

BLOOD

Grave mistakes are made in the treatment of all diseases that arise from poison in the blood. Not one case of Scrofula, Syphilis, White Swelling, Ulcerous Sores and Skin Disease in a thousand, is treated without the use of Mercury in some form. Mercury eats the bones, and the diseases it produces are worse than any other kind of blood or skin disease can be. Dr. PEMBERTON'S STILLINGIA OR QUEEN'S DELIGHT is the only medicine upon which the hope of recovery from Mercurial, Syphilitic or Mercurial diseases is reasonably founded, and there Cures: $10,000 will be paid the proprietors if Mercury, or any impure or purely vegetable and harmless can be found in it.

It is an excellent corrective of Indigestion I have used it with prompt beneficial results

Rev. Dr. Mangum, Prof. Univ. of N. C.

I concur with Bishop Doggett in his estimate of the Vest Pocket Cure.

Rev. Drs. Jeter, Broaddus, Dickinson, (Bap.)

It is endorsed by the direct personal testimony of men of national fame and strictness of speech. It is not too much to say that no medicine ever had such support in its favor as a specific. The word of any one of the eminent divines who underwrite this antidote to dyspepsia has deserved weight. Their united witness joined with the experimental use and approval of the preparation by well-known physicians, removes all doubt. It is beyond question, a wonderful therapeutical agent.—Editors Religious Herald, Va

Chaplain Randolph Macon College, Va.

Many cases of Dyspepsia in my knowledge have been cured by it. Cramps, Colics, Headaches and all sorts of pains from indigestion yield promptly to it. The cures of this sort are innumerable.

Rev Robert W. Watts, A. M., Va.

I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsia Colic, which threatened my life, and was cured, eating any diet without hurt. I have recommended it to other sufferers with happiest results. It is the best tonic and corrective I ever knew. For protection from Dyspepsia or Liver Disease it is invaluable

J. D. Eggleston, M. D., Va.

It is a highly valuable remedy, and is more extensively used than any single article in the whole list of medicines, so far as I observed in my practice, for all the complaints in families from indigestion. I use it and recommend it.

Editor Richmond Christian Advocate

This remedy is of tried virtue. I have seen Dyspepsia cured completely by it. It seems to be an antidote to our "Nation Disease." The ingredients are not kept by the apothecaries, and have been difficult to get.

DAILY NEWS

FRIDAY ---------- MAY 2 1879.

Weather Report.

WASHINGTON, May 1.

For the South Atlantic States, falling barometer, southwest winds and rain, followed by rising barometer; colder north and west winds with clearing weather.

Index to New Advertisements.

JOHN E. GRAHAM.—Notice.
A. A. THOMPSON.—Local notice.
C. T. ASKEW.—Local notice.
JAS. MCKEE.—Local notice.
J. W. WATSON.—Local notice.
A. W. FRAPS.—Local notice.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——During the month of April there were six interments in Oakwood, three adults, and three children.

——We have in North Carolina, a lady Bank President, a lady lawyer, a lady editor and two lady preachers.

——After two postponements, the Swepson trial will begin at Louisburg to-day. The NEWS will have a full report of course.

——Mr. J. W. Watson has given up the sale of liquors and wines. He will make a specialty of first-class groceries at very low prices.

——The members of the Raleigh Hook & Ladder Company, No. 1, are requested to meet to-night in Firemen Hall, at 8 o'clock, as there is business to be brought before the company of importance to each member.

——Trade developed a little yesterday, and there were few country people in the city, so the merchants looked somewhat blue. The spring trade has, however, been fair, and shows an improvement over that of the same time last year.

——The broken portion of the government sewer down in Bledsoe's field, has never been repaired. It should be attended to at once. The connection between the jail and this main sewer is now being made.

——There will be a regular meeting of the Y. K. of T. at their Lodge Room on Friday night the 2nd at 7½ o'clock. A prompt attendance is desired as they have business of importance to transact.

——A little four year old urchin who habitually repeats its prayer after its mamma, remarked to her one evening recently "Mamma, in saying my prayer to me you needn't say it any farther than 'And this I ask for Jesus' sake;' I know all the rest."

——Don't forget that this evening you can enjoy the delightful pastime of roller skating at the rink, in Dodd's Hall. Two and a half hours of fine and healthful exercise. It is no wonder that the rink, under Mr. Dodd's good management and attention, continues to be a favorite resort.

——We call attention to the advertisement of W. F. Askew, manufacturer of paper, in to-day's issue. Mr. Askew, who is proprietor of the Factory at the Falls of Neuse, make the best paper in the state, and being a home manufacturer desires to furnish the Press of the State.

——Moses Walker, colored, was released from the penitentiary yesterday. He was convicted in Granville county of larceny and sentenced to the penitentiary August, 1876. He is about 31 years old, 5 feet 3½ inches high, and weighed when admitted 133 pounds.

Tax Lists.

Mr. Partin, the efficient and urbane clerk of the Auditor, is sending out blank tax lists to the sheriffs of the various counties, upon which to make their returns of taxable property for the current year.

Convicts.

Sheriff Dempsey Spruill, of Washington county, yesterday placed in the tender care of the Penitentiary authorities one Squire Bembridge, a very black African, who had been sent up for the darkey's favorite crime—larceny. He gets five years' imprisonment.

Treasury Notes.

It was decidedly dull in this Department yesterday, and the only thing in the way of news was that, for a wonder, no a single bond had been sent in all day. The teller said that thus far over $100,000 of bonds had been received. Yesterday being the first of the month, was, of course, pay day; so everybody about the building drew what amount of there was due them.

A New Sport.

The guard-house people amused themselves yesterday, and drove away dull care by securing a venerable and ignorant rooster and putting him in front of a looking glass. The old fighter thought he saw an enemy in the treacherous glass, and struck at his foe with might and main. He soon learned, however, the deceit, and took a cool survey of his own proportions, after which he engaged in a brisk search for rations.

"The Last Charge."

The Farmer & Mechanic of this city, announces that in its next number will appear an account of "The last charge at Appomattox," from the facile pen of Gen. W. R. Cox, who led the charge. Send and get a copy. Capt. Shotwell continues to improve the paper. It is now in its fourth volume, and the NEWS is glad to learn of its increasing circulation. Let the people support and foster home enterprises.

Improvements.

The number of buildings now going up in the city is a sure evidence of continued prosperity. In the northeastern portion the erection of three handsome dwellings has just begun. One of these is for Mr. John Upchurch and the others for Mr. R. S. Pullen. Altogether some ten buildings are now being built in that part of the city.

Railroad News.

The R. & G. R. R. company is now building an extension to the warehouses which will reach to Halifax street, and will make room for the freight which the present building is not large enough to accommodate. On Halifax street will be the Agent's office, and there will be more room for drays on the three streets. The erection of this addition to the warehouse will prove a great convenience to business, and the enlarged building will be built in handsome style.

Let Met Out.

A day or so ago a man was brought before Justice Barbee, on a warrant, for failure to list his taxes. He was tried in a jiffy. The judgment was of course, lenient, only one penny and costs. The citizen was on his dignity, though, and wouldn't pay anything. He was then told that go to jail he must, and being still obstinate, he was taken to that delightful place and given quarters. He had not been in there an hour when he caved in, and begged to be allowed to send for the money to pay the costs. He was allowed to do so, and presently his wife came and took him out and away.

The Performing Bear.

A large Cincinnati bear led by a stalwart foreigner, of heaven knows what nationality, amused the people, both great and small yesterday. Both bruin and his trainer were comical, and the queer cries of the latter drew crowds. A grave, deliberate old bear is it, who climbs a tree under protest, but who appears to have as keen an eye for and appreciation of a nickel, as his master. The tricks of the bear do credit to to him and so he is properly rewarded. It was reported last evening that he had eaten three colored school children for a lunch, but the incident originated in some Africans imagination.

TUPPER'S CHURCH AGAIN.

The Brethren Stirred Up---How the Deacons Served the Pastor.

This sanctuary has been the scene of frequent strife in the past few years, and its name is one well known in the courts of justice. It yesterday came forward again, and drew a crowd of sables to Justice Barbee's office. That magistrate was in his glory over the case, which was an amusing one. It appeared that the Rev. Arthur Williams is the dusky divine who occupies the pulpit at this church, the right name of which is the Second Baptist. Tuesday night the Rev. Arthur called a church meeting for some purpose, and ascended the pulpit to begin the proceedings. At this stage of affairs down the aisle came a brace of dusky deacons, exceedingly wroth, and these ascended the pulpit likewise. One of these unruly brethren attempted to seize the Bible, while the other grasped a lappel of the Rev. Arthur's coat. In a moment the Bible snatcher also seized the other lappel, and the pair of worthies gave their pastor what one of the congregation called a jolly good shaking. They shouted out to the shocked congregation that the preacher had no right to call a church meeting right over the deacon's head, so to speak. Great confusion followed, during which the belligerent deacons were heard to declare that there would be blood spilt before they would permit the meeting to proceed. The Rev. Arthur then, at a policeman's suggestion, adjourned the meeting. The brethren at once assembled, and Hardy Cross moved to expel the offenders from their positions as deacons. This was carried, nem con., and the plucky Cross then moved that the offenders be expelled from the church. This suited the congregation and the late deacons were emphatically ruled out. The Rev. Arthur at once swore out a warrant against both of them for the assault. Justice Barbee heard the case all through, and at its conclusion fined the brace of bad churchmen $5 apiece and costs.

In the afternoon another trial came off, which was as amusing as that of the morning. It appears that in the melee at the church, a much heated sister, Cherry Thrower by name, gave a brother, Major Austin, a backhanded box on his auricular, which nearly killed him, and he had her before the mrgistrate for the assault. She was dismissed on payment of costs. And yet two more trials came off, all growing out of this unlucky church row. The Rev. Mr. Williams saw fit to bring a brace of the members, Jacob Eagenton, and Major Austin, for aiding and abetting in the fracas. The justice evidently thought them guilty of the offense charged, as each was fined $10 and costs. Church rows are expensive pleasures, and should be indulged in only at long intervals.

Fish.

Innumerable quantities of fish arrive in the Raleigh market daily, and of almost every variety. Owing to rapid transit, our citizens are able to procure them fresh and at very low figures. A few years ago this article of food was not so readily obtained, and what consumers did get were brought from Norfolk and Weldon. Now, thanks to those enterprising energetic citizens of Newberne, Messrs. B. B. Lane, C. T. Watson, Thos. Daniels, and Mr. Ives, of Beaufort, we are enabled to make our selection from as endless a variety as if we were at the waters edge. And these pioneers in the fish business have opened an avenue of industry which must prove a permanent blessing to Eastern North Carolina, and bring this fair section of our grand old State into into general notice throughout the country. We believe they ship fish as far South as Atlanta, Georgia, and from the superabundance of terrapins, game, etc., large quantities go to fill the northern markets yearly.

A Large Bird.

We are informed that Mr. Andrew Wyatt, living about eight miles from Raleigh, shot and killed on Monday, a large bird, commonly known as the American or Bald Eagle, the wings of which measured from tip to tip, six feet three inches. Was this bird out of his latitude.

Barbecue at Mr. Stronach's.

Mr. Geo. T. Stronach, living at the Meredith place, in Swift Creek township, in this county, on yesterday regaled his friends with barbecued hog, lamb and chicken. City and county officials, prominent merchants, and the men of that and adjacent townships were present. Pleasant speeches were made by Judge Cox and Messrs. Graham Haywood, Len. H. Adams and Robert H. Jones. There was music by Prof. Slaters band. The large number of persons from both city and country passed, by a unanimous vote, a resolution of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Stronach for their hospitality. An extended notice will appear in to-morrow's paper.

Internal Revenue News.

The tobacco tax at the reduced rate of 16 cents per pound, went into effect yesterday. The stamps are unchanged in design, but are surcharged across the end in red, with the words, "Issued under the act of March 1st, 1879, tax 16 cents per pound." The demand for the stamps was heavy, the sales aggregating $10,375.72. At Durham the stamps are now sold by Mr. Eugene Morehead, who has been appointed agent by collecter Young, and his sales yesterday, it is thought amounted to some $30,000. Collector Young stated that, yesterday all the special tax licenses expired, and notice is given the people in this district to look out and be careful to renew. If they don't, the officials will reap a harvest. So all who are required to use the s amps for license should take them out at once.

The Death Rate of

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year, without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant organ. At this season of the year especially, a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find too late that a fever or lung trouble has already set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken, a cure would have resulted, and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the throat and lungs, Boschee's German Syrup has proved itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known.

Unheard of Bargains!

Who tries his best to please his friends
And in his labors never ends,
Bargains he'll give you when you call
For No. 10 is all and all.
Of other houses you hear them talk;
In Fayetteville street just take a walk
And only ask for No. 10,
Kept by the most ingenious of men,
And when his friends by chance drop in
Then forth he comes, Lord what a grin,
And to their wondering eyes displays
Such heaps of brackets and window shades.
His pictures are exposed to public view
And a variety of cord to suspend them too,
His looking glasses and toilet cases
Will help adorn your forms and faces;
Picture frames and mouldings too
In great variety, black, brown and blue.
His window cornices and lambrequins fine,
Will make your rooms and parlor shine.
Perforated mottoes, and wh te holly baskets.
And every other sort of stuff,
Of which he hopes to have enough.
So now he bids you all adieu
And wishes a happy new year too,
And not forget

Dunlop & McCance Mills,

ERECTED 1853.

OFFICE: 1213 CARY STREET,
Richmond Va.,

We have recently introduced into our mill elaborate and costly Machinery, for manufacturing the indicated by our trade-marks, to the Superior Quality.

FLOUR

OF WHICH

We ask the Attention of Dealers and Consumers.

The "Dunlop Patent Family"

meets a want long felt Flour having both color and strength. Its whiteness cannot fail to please the most fastidious taste, while its glutinous properties insure a light and nutritious bread. The advance in the art milling, by which Patent Flour is made, ought last established in the South, is here much needed—by housekeepers, to make up for culinary shortcomings; by bakers, to give strength and quality to the valuable and inferior grades, which can only be used to advantage by mixing with

New Process Flour.

Consumers should be Educated,

FOR HEALTH AND CONVENIENCE,

To Use A Better and Consequently More Expensive Grade of Flour.

and when the fact is realized that the cost of one dollar more per barrel amounts in their daily consumption of three or four pounds to a difference of one and a half or two cents, they will hardly regard the additional expenditure an exravagance. To few people buying Flour by the barrel does it occur that this important article of human food, used at every meal, costs less per day than almost any other on their bill or fare.

Of our

"McCance New Process Family," and "McCance New Process Extra,"

we can confidently say they are unsurpassed by any other brands to be had for the same price; and will certainly give entire satisfaction to those who do not fancy paying the figures which Patent Flour must command to induce its manufacture.

Our fixed Policy is to Keep the Flour Represented by Our Brands to a High Standard of Quality.

In addition to the usual packages—barrels and half-barrels—we are now putting it in bags equa to the half, quarter, eighth, and sixteenth of a barrel.

A few nights since I gave my son one dose of the Worm Oil, and the next day he passed sixteen large worms. At the same time I gave one to my little girl, four years old, and she passed eighty-six worms from four to fifteen inches long.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER

DR. C. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.
